

Virgin Mary spotted in bird poop

July 15, 2009

Virgin Mary spotting has dropped to new lows with a Texas family claiming that the mother of Jesus has made an appearance in bird poop attached to their pickup truck.

The image of the Virgin Mary appeared after Salvador Pachuca returned home after having an accident four months ago. The truck was taken outside for a wash, and then the Virgin Mary bird poop magically fell from the sky.

"I told my brothers come over here and see what this is and they say this is the Virgin," says Salvador Pachuca old local media. Wife Cristal said she took pictures and began making calls to invite others to see, what she describes as, a miracle. "We just all feel protected. It's a blessing to our family and to everybody that comes to see it."

The family say they will welcome anyone who wants to see the image, and there are no plans yet to sell the bird poop on eBay.
